

BIOL 311 : Human Anatomy

Study of cellular, histological, structural, and functional aspects of body systems. Focus on the structure of the human body and physiological mechanisms used to maintain homeostasis. Designed for paramedical students in prephysical therapy and athletic training.

Semester Hours 4.0

Prerequisites

BIOL 117.