

POLS 312 : Politics and Public Policy

This course will focus on state and federal policy, with an emphasis on policy development and analysis. The course will provide an overview of role of various institutions, politics, and various actors on the policy process. Major theoretical models of policy development will be addressed.

Semester Hours 3.0