

HIST 539: Europe in Postwar Era

Close examination of the history of Eastern and Western Europe from the end of World War II to the present. Focus on the political and economic reconstruction of early postwar Europe, the role of Europe in the Cold War, the emergence of the "New Europe" in the post-communist period, and the transformation of Europe's political, economic, and cultural relations with the United States.

Credits: 3

Program: History