

MCOM 101: Mass Media and Society

Study of the structure, function, and effects of mass communication in the U.S. culture. Influence of economics and governmental regulations of media content. Special attention to the rights and responsibilities of the media. This course satisfies the Social Sciences Core requirement. Three semester hours.

Credits: 3

Program: Mass Communications