

NURS 202: Pathophysiology

This online course offers the study of the physiological changes resulting from illness and imbalances which may occur throughout the lifespan. The highlight is on the relevance of concepts of adaptation and homeostasis of the body systems and association to nursing practice.

Credits: 3

Program: Nursing