

POLS 450: Seminar: Problems in Politics

Selected political issues associated with the institutions, culture, and politics of the United States; international or comparative politics; or political theory, thought, or philosophy. All students will complete a major research essay on a topic of their choice. May be re-taken for credit with different topics. Repeated courses will count as a 300 level POLS elective.

Semester Hours: 3

Prerequisites:

POLS 103

POLS 105

POLS 240

POLS 215

Senior status or the permission of the department chair.

Program: Politics, Law, and International Relations